Pupils Here Less Thrifty Than In Other Cities

Close of Fiscal Year Showed Only 43 Per Cent Participating In School Savings Banking System, But System Had Been Operating Less Than a Year—School Board Increases Non-Resident Tuition in Elementary Schools

The regular meeting of the board of education had a late start Friday evening because in order to secure a quorum, one member being lacking, Superintendent Michael went with his automobile after Trustee Mrs. Nettie Thompson, who left a birthday party which was being held in honor of her husband, in order to make the necessary quorum. President Fleming presided and the other members at the meeting were Trustees Betz, Beeres, Brinnier and Thompson. Considerable business was transacted, much of it routine.

After roll call and reading and adoption of minutes Superintendent Michael read a communication from the Federal Aid Department with enclosure of $1,292.61 for part time school equipment, etc. Filed.

The Senior Dance.
A request was received from the Senior Class, 1926, for use of the high school for its annual senior dance on November 26, and that owing to it being the date for the class football game, the class be allowed to make the hours from 8 to 12 p. m. The request was granted. President Fleming named Trustees Beeres and Fowler to be the chaperons.

A communication from the Chamber of Commerce Forum thanking the board of education for use of the High School Auditorium for its lectures was read and ordered filed.

Block Gets Contract.
Four bids were opened from local dealers in answer to advertising for proposals to furnish stock for eight schools, as follows: Stock & Cordis, 3251-36 Van Wazeran Company, $275.50; Joseph Block, $241.50; and Company, $251.

Trustee Brinnier offered a resolution that as Joseph Block was the lowest bidder the contract be awarded to him. Carried.

Bills and Payroll Audited.
The finance committee reported having audited general bills in the amount of $10,411.50. The report was adopted and vouchers ordered issued.

Payment of the October payroll of superintendent and teachers, amounting to $26,536.57, was adopted.

More Heat at No. 3.
Trustee Betz, for the building committee, submitted the following report, which was adopted:

Your building committee would respectfully report that the work at No. 6 School is progressing satisfactorily. The tile floor will be laid in one of the toilets tomorrow.

We have found that there are two rooms in No. 5 School which have not sufficient amount of radiating surface to warm them properly in cold weather. By actual measurement we find that in each room there should be about fifty additional feet of radiating surface. On a cold day if the heating plant is forced sufficiently to warm these two rooms to 70, all the other rooms in the building are superheated. In the interest of economy and comfort of the children, we recommend that the necessary additional radiating be installed in these two rooms.

Mr. Hoderath has had about eleven years of practical experience in general machine shop practice in all its phases.

We also report that in the place of our drawing supervisor, Miss Elizabeth B. Pearce, deceased, we have secured the services of Miss Edith A. Hough, salary at the rate of $1,800 per year. Miss Hough is a graduate of the Arts Department of Syracuse University and has had successful experience as a teacher of drawing at Seneca Falls and in the State Normal School at New Paltz.

Minor Matters.
Trustee Betz moved and it was carried that the next regular meeting of the board be held on November 20, at 8 p. m.

President Fleming continued the visiting committee of October for November.

The matter of the erecting of a fire escape on School No. 7 which has been deemed necessary for safety to the pupils was referred to the building committee.

Purchase Power Sewing Machine.
Superintendent Michael stated that Miss Holmes, the teacher at part time school, had reported the machine there. When not being used by the part time girls it could be used by the others girls of Miss Holmes' classes. One could be bought for about $100 out of the Federal Aid fund money received which was for equipment.

On motion of Trustee Brinnier the purchase of the power sewing machine was ordered.

Superintendent Michael's Report.
Superintendent Michael submitted the following report which was filed to the Hon. Board of Education:

I respectfully submit the following report:

Shortly after the schools opened in September 1924, by authority of a resolution passed by your board we established a school savings bank system in the public schools of this city. At about the same time the school at East Kingston, District No. 7 and St. Mary's Parochial School in this city adopted the same system.

The figures given below apply to eleven schools in the savings bank system. A report to me from one of the local savings banks under date of October 21, gives the following percentage of the enrollment in each school who are depositors:

School	Per Cent
School No. 1	79
School No. 2	71
School No. 3	71
School No. 4	59
School No. 5	58
School No. 6	58
School No. 7	54
School No. 8	54
High School	18
St. Mary's School	48
No. 7 East Kingston	52

A report received this week, compiled and published by the American Bankers' Association on school savings banking gives the following figures for eleven schools in the Kingston district for the year ending June 30, 1925:

New Defense For Mitchell

Counsel For Colonel Billy Mitchell Hopes to Show That Mitchell Was "Framed" by the War Department.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 31.—While Colonel William Mitchell stood with his back to a figurative wall today, his counsel used the week-end recess in America's greatest military trial to erect a new line of defense.

Led by Representative Frank R. Reid, Republican of Illinois, Mitchell's attorneys were working on a program intended, not to save Mitchell from an inevitable conviction on charges of "conduct prejudicial to military discipline," but to prove to the country that his court martial was instigated by the war department with a total disregard for the army's own rules of procedure. As even Mitchell himself does not expect an acquittal from the "jury of generals," he would look upon a success in this effort as a complete vindication of his case.

Scott at Mitchell Plan.
Officials of the war department scoffed at the move. They pointed out that a similar argument by his counsel met with unanimous repudiation by the jury of generals sitting in judgment at the court martial. This issue was raised when Reid entered a motion to quash the whole proceeding on the ground that the army laws had not been followed but it was overruled when President Coolidge and Secretary of War Dwight Davis were named as the responsible parties and the jury held in effect, that "the president can do no wrong."

Because of this ruling, one of the steps contemplated by defense counsel was a formal request to the "prosecution" to produce both President Coolidge and Secretary Davis "so that Mitchell can face his accusers in the court room."

When the request is denied, as it undoubtedly will be, Mitchell's counsel have contemplated the issuance of subpoenas for the chief executive and his cabinet member.

Seeking Support of Public Opinion.
Either by this move or by the introduction of testimony when the trial is resumed Monday, the defense hoped to show that the "frame-up" was "manufactured" into order by the court martial of Mitchell without knowing that he was assuming the role of an accused. If the president should deny such an intent, it was the belief of Mitchell's counsel, the whole case against Mitchell would collapse. If not in fact, at least in public opinion.

On the records of the trial, Secretary Davis' name alone appeared as recommending the trial. The accusers as far as the record showed, was Lieutenant Colonel Kyle Rucker, the judge advocate general's department. If the defense can bring out testimony showing Rucker signed the charges at Davis' direction, Mitchell would feel he had won his case.

Such a situation, defense counsel pointed out, would make Davis, and through him the president, appear as Mitchell's accuser, prosecutor, judge and jury. In other words, that Mitchell was "framed" by the war department.

"There is no man in our move," said Reid today. "We think Colonel Mitchell and the American people are entitled to know who instigated this court martial and by the president and the war department went outside the regular procedure to bring this officer to trial. We want to know what mysterious power he has behind this prosecution and why the war department did not abide by its own rules."

Steamer Disabled.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Eagle Harbor, Mich., Oct. 31.—Distress signals were received here today from a disabled vessel of the Hutchinson Line, reported around on Gull Rock, 45 miles off shore. A coast guard cutter was battling high waves in an effort to reach the disabled steamer.

covers only the first year of operation. Parents, teachers and school officials should not under estimate the importance of inculcating in the mind of the coming citizen the strictest application of the principles of thrift. The future happiness and prosperity of our country will depend largely upon how thoroughly this work is done by the present generation. If each child in the schools would put into the savings bank what he spends weekly for gum, soda water and movies picture shows, the sum due depositors would soon be more than doubled. Above all, the acquisition of the habit of self-denial through the saving of pennies will build up sound character which is even more desirable than a big bank account.

The report from the local savings bank for the current school week shows that there is due depositors in the school savings system the sum of $25,558.05.

I cannot appeal too strongly to parents and teachers and all concerned in the welfare of our future citizens, to encourage our children to save their pennies.

I have visited all the public schools of the city during the current month and find them operating in their usual efficient way.

Through the sky on her broom, Mother Witch flies and the goblins make merry in the spirit of Halloween. And to help in the celebration, Vivian Marinelli, of Washington, gathers a few pumpkins to decorate her home.

Skidded Into a Fence and Porch

Key Conditions Made Driving Dangerous Today—Coming Off Rondout Creek Bridge Car Crashed Into Danaher's Porch.

Key conditions on the Rondout Creek Bridge and approach on Abeel street made driving of automobiles very dangerous this morning when they were not equipped with chains. Louis F. Bosco of New York learned that when his car skidded when he applied the brakes and crashed into the fence and porch of the house of Charles Danaher at No. 1 Abeel street.

In the car with Bosco was Gilbert Ardo, also of New York city, who was sitting in the rear seat of the new Studebaker coach. The flying glass cut him on the head and he was hurled to the Kingston City Hospital where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Frank A. Johnston. They were not serious.

The radiator of the automobile was wrecked.

Very few cars were equipped with chains and when driving over the Rondout Creek Bridge there were a number of narrow escapes from serious damage when the driver applied the brakes and the cars skidded on the icy pavement. Several cars were turned completely around and just escaped upsetting.

Issue 1926 Plates On November 23

Deputy County Clerk H. Clinton Finger in charge of the local motor vehicle bureau, 237 Fair street, has received word from Deputy Wenzel of the State Motor Vehicle Bureau at Albany that the date for issuing the 1926 motor vehicle license plates will be November 23.

POLICE GUARD THE HUNGARIAN LEGATION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 31.—A police guard has been established around the Hungarian Legation here, it was learned today, presumably at the request of the minister, Count Sechenyi, who married Gladys Vanderbilt, American heiress.

The guard was established, it is understood, because of threatening letters received as an outgrowth of the state department's action in barring from this country Count and Countess Karolyi, Hungarian Republicans, which was done at Sechenyi's instance.

YOUTHFUL BANDIT SUSPECT KILLED BY DETECTIVE.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Philadelphia, Oct. 31.—Four detectives fought a desperate pistol battle in a darkened house with four youthful bandit suspects today and one of the alleged robber gang was killed.

Reaction in U. S. Exports

To Canada May Result in Conservative Party Going Into Power—Pledged to a High Protective Tariff.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 31.—Fall of the Mackenzie-King government in Canada with a conservative party going into power pledged to a high protective tariff may have pronounced reaction in the United States, according to government economic authorities today.

Canada, department of commerce officials said, is among America's best customers. Canadian imports from the United States will total about $680,000,000 for a year. Up to October 1, Canadian buying in the United States had been $480,000,000 against purchases of $321,731,000 by Americans in Canada.

Canada's heaviest purchases from the United States consist of raw materials or semi-manufactured goods and against these officials here do not anticipate a prohibitive tariff although they feel that finished products may be seriously affected.

In the finished material group Canada last year bought machinery and vehicles valued at $80,426,000 in the United States textiles of $42,299,000 value and wool and paper of $30,000,000. This classification might be met by a tariff wall should the new government find the necessity of protecting industry in these groups.

In spite of tariff walls and other artificial restrictions against American business officials believed the quality of goods produced in this country will overcome any possible obstacles in Canada as it has climbed over tariff barriers of other nations.

DISCOVER PLOT TO KILL LORD BIRKENHEAD

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Oct. 31.—A plot to assassinate Lord Birkenhead, secretary for India, was discovered by the Dublin police and caused the cancellation of Lord Birkenhead's plan to visit Dublin last Wednesday, according to the Central News.

The Dublin police today refused to confirm or deny the report.

Lord Birkenhead has been one of the severe critics of the Free State government and has been regarded as proponent of Ulster in the border dispute.

Awards For 32 Heroes

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, Pa. Oct. 31.—Medals and cash awards from the Carnegie hero fund commission were sent out today to 32 heroes, or their relatives in the United States and Canada. Rhode Island led all states, receiving seven of the awards. Three awards went to Maine and two each to Connecticut and New York.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Oct. 31.—Pobly Walkhour and Freddie Spencer, New Jersey team, led the field today in the international six day bicycle race. This is the last day of the long ride. At the end of the 12th day of riding, 7,444 miles had been covered. The race ends tonight.

Says Grand Jury Was Hoodwinked

Counsel For Colonel Thomas W. Miller, Former Alien Property Custodian, Charges Jury Was "Hoodwinked" Into Indicting Miller.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 31.—The federal grand jury was "hoodwinked" into indicting Colonel Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian in connection with the alleged fraudulent recovery of $7,000,000 worth of American metals stocks seized during the war, Robert S. Johnstone, counsel for Miller, said today.

The indictment alleged that Miller, with John T. King, former Republican national committeeman from Connecticut and the late Jess W. Smith of Washington Court-house, Ohio, conspired with German and Swiss bankers to defraud the government.

Four foreign financiers were named with Miller in the indictment: Richard Merton, president of the Metallgesellschaft; Alfred Merton, president of the Frankfort-on-the-Main-Metallbank; Germany; Fritz Zahn Geigy, president of the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs De Metaux of Basel, and Leopold Dubois, president of a Basel bank.

Miller's counsel said that "such persons as Remy Simon, and Elmer Jarnecke" the latter who is under two convictions for felony, "hoodwinked the grand jury in their testimony as witnesses before the grand jury."

Colonel Miller does not know and never had anything to do with either of those persons. Yet it is on the testimony of such as they took in secrecy that the recent indictment is based," said Johnstone.

"Colonel Miller invites the most searching investigation of the office of alien property custodian during his administration."

MRS. STILLMAN WANTS TO MARRY YOUNG MCCORMICK
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 31.—Love for young Harold Fowler McCormick, Jr., youthful heir to the McCormick millions, lies behind the reported new divorce action of Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, against her husband, James A. Stillman, financier, according to a rumor circulating in society circles today.

Friends intimated that Mrs. Stillman has decided to sue for a decree in order to marry young McCormick. The rumored romance is said to have begun when McCormick went to work as a laborer in the Milwaukee plant of the International Harvester because Mrs. Stillman advised him to start at the bottom and learn the business.

HALLOWEEN FESTIVITIES ENJOYED AT THE Y. W. C. A.

In spite of the record crowd at the Y. W. C. A. gym appropriate Halloween decorations and fearsome, grinning, glaring Jack O'Lanterns formed the setting of this gay party. There were games and races, Paul Jones, Virginia Reels, etc., fortune telling, stunts and dancing. Many of the costumes were handsome while all were fantastic or funny. During the evening doughnuts plus the hot and sweet cider were the refreshments served.

DE PAOLO FAVORED TO WIN AUTOMOBILE RACE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Salem, N. H., Oct. 31.—Seventeen of the world's greatest racing drivers gathered once again at the Rockingham Speedway here today, ready to take part in the much postponed 250 mile automobile race this afternoon.

Clear and cold weather was on tap for the event. The largest sport crowd ever gathered in New England was expected to be on hand to watch the event.

Peter De Paolo of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the favorite to win.

PLAN TO EXTRADITE INDICTED FINANCIERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 31.—Unless the four German and Swiss financiers indicted along with Colonel Thomas W. Miller, ex-alien property custodian, for conspiracy to defraud the United States in the American metals case, voluntarily return to the United States to face trial, an effort will be made to extradite them, it was stated today at the department of justice.

Officials of the department were dubious, however, whether the foreigners are extraditable.

Moran Adds to Teaching Staff.
Another forward step has been taken by the Moran Business School, Burdett Building, corner Fair and Main streets, its faculty having recently been strengthened through the engagement of Henry W. Dearborn, an experienced teacher of commercial subjects. Mr. Dearborn specialized in commercial teaching at Burdett College and at Boston University, and has had successful teaching experience with the Miller School, New York city, one of the most reputable business training schools in the country. Until recently he was connected with the First National Bank of Boston.

Junior League Circus Ball Big Success

Armory Thronged With People Who Got Thorough Enjoyment Out of Elaborately Planned Entertainment and Dance for Baby Welfare Work in Kingston.

The members of the Junior League have done clever things in the way of balls and dances but none would compare to the circus ball held under their auspices at the New York state armory Friday night for the benefit of their baby welfare work in Kingston.

At an early hour there was a whopping big crowd at the armory and the grand march began very nearly on time. Even if the gorgeous bill posters, the huge many-colored lantern shades to the big overhead lights, the Halloween decorations of the band stands and the front of the balcony had failed to gain the favorable attention of any present, starting the program on time would have turned the trick.

A few minutes after 8 o'clock the ringmaster, Robert R. Rodie, resplendent in attire and snapping his fearsome looking long-lashed whip, welcomed the assemblage and announced the grand march, to be led by Professor Zucca's Cloven Band, which alone was well worth the price of admission, whether leading the parade or playing for dancing. The Junior League is also to be congratulated upon re-discovering to Kingston ball-habitués the excellence of Mr. Zucca's orchestra.

There was nothing funnier throughout the evening than "Rube, Wife and Child" (G. Wallace Goddard, Mrs. William Warren and Miss Elmer Chipp), particularly when they got all ready to go out on the circus ring and eat their lunch just as the parade started.

All the accessories there. Even the ticket takers (Thomas Horton and Harold King) looked just like the real thing. Of course there were peanut (later ice cream cone) boys—snappy Pierrots, who did a thriving business (Joseph Herbert Everett Fessenden, Jr., Hamilton Blvd., Campbell Street, Dwight Harrison), while fascinating balloons and programs were for sale by Mrs. Harold King, Miss Margaret Loughran, Miss Helen Newman, Miss Florence Corbitt, in Pierrot costumes.

Some Parade Features.
After the band came the prancing steeds, the clowns, Ernest Acker, Jar Le Ferre, Bert Davis, John FitzPatrick, William Hasbrouck, Robert Bonestell, Mrs. Lois Gray and Miss Jane Van Ethen, all of whom kept the circus crowd in sales of laughter. Then there were the Moravian Dancers, Isadore, the Irish Elephant, Tilly Tanglefoot, Sampson the strong man, Katherine the Arkansas Grapple, the Woolfuses Lady Zazabelle and her troupe of Contained Animals in honest-to-goodness cages, the Plantation Jubilee Singers, the Chariot racers the Woompuss Cat (Mrs. Newton H. Fessenden and Mrs. William R. Kraft), the Chief Barker and others.

The Opening Thriller.
Ringmaster Rodie was a most successful announcer, and about the first thing he announced was "The Equestrian Act, wherein the famous Junior League ponies, Spark Pink (Mrs. Charles A. Warren), Man O' War (Mrs. John Schoonmaker, Jr.) and Huskey (Mrs. Robert R. Rodie) performed marvellous feats of skill and intelligence, dancing a fox trot and waltz and doing a cake walk besides jumping through paper hoops. Then everybody whooped.

A Husband-Taming Dance.
Next came the husband-taming dance the gaily costumed Moravians (Miss Majorie Richards in charge with the Misses Helen Howatt, Dorothy Mac Padden, Florence Lutz, Priscilla Davis, Wilhelmina McLaughlin, Helen Daumer, Margarette Daumer, Dorothy Cunniff, Olivia Dauber, Margaret Herbert, Martha Gold) who pranced as well as danced and made emphatic noises.

Other Stunts Follow.
Next came Isadore the Irish Elephant (Everett E. Fessenden and Newton H. Fessenden) with his unequalled trainer (Mrs. William Anderson Carl) who did all of the most approved and safe and wondrous stunts on the ground and even walked his way.

When it came to stunts the creatures with web feet every one commended Tilly Tanglefoot the Terrible of the Tight Rope, the Wonderful Slack Wire Performer, who used a plank (William Anderson Carl) who even reached the ringmaster a cigarette and "shot" it with meandering plankness.

The next two numbers were the real thing the Acrobatic Tumbler did Periscope Pyramid and the acrobats Lebr Julius Krieger, Dore, Less and Herbert Van Doren, putting over a splendid acrobatic performance that would have been a credit to grown up professionalists.

Ralph Mann Shows Talent.
In Ralph Mann The World's Premier Vaudeville Artist, who did feature balancing in many Kingstonsians had a big surprise that there is such talent in town not to mention such a chance for on his own. Mr. Mann balanced the ringmaster's whip at the little end, two brooms a wheelbarrow, a hand truck and finally a long step-ladder. He was enthusiastically applauded.

"EVIL EYE" FORCES KILLER TO MAKE FULL CONFESSION

Italian Admits He Slashed to Death Old Woman of Ill Repute.

Jamestown, N. Y.—The weird power of the evil eye, said to have been exercised during her life by Mrs. Liborio Speranza, whose mutilated body was found on the bank of the Chataque river near here, was potent even after her death to force a confession from Frank Serlano, in the opinion of Italians here.

Serlano, one of three prisoners suspected of the murder, was questioned for two hours by the police in the dimly lighted morgue. A few feet away, on a slab, lay the body of the dead woman, her head nearly severed from her body, a cross cut on her face and her mouth slit from ear to ear.

For most of the two hours he held out, and then suddenly broke down, and in a signed statement confessed his guilt and exonerated the other two suspects.

Slashed Her Throat and Threw Her Body into a Heap of Brush.

Slashed With Razor.
Serlano, who served two years in Auburn prison for shooting a man in Olean, said he had been one of a group of men attending a party near Mrs. Speranza's home, where he boarded, when she passed on the street. The crowd jeered at her, he said, and she picked up a stone and hurled it at them. It struck Serlano and he started after the old woman.

Mrs. Speranza fled but Serlano said he caught her near the river, and slashed her with a safety-razor blade, throwing her body into a heap of brush, where it was found several hours later by a workman. The police searched the scene of the murder for the razor, but failed to find it.

It was said here that in the past Mrs. Speranza had foretold disasters which later came true. One man returned to Italy, it is said, on the advice of the aged woman, to whom some went for advice, and others avoided. One man is reported to have quarreled with Mrs. Speranza two years ago and to have fallen from a bridge to his death shortly afterward. Children fled from her, and superstitious neighbors feared her anger.

Weird Influence.
Roomers who lived with Mrs. Speranza assert she exercised some weird influence over them. Serlano says that on several occasions he was beaten by her for bringing home fish that he had caught in Chataque lake, because she asserted that an evil power thrived in the left eye of a fish when it was brought over her threshold.

Serlano says that he was only one of her roomers held in mortal fear of her. He says that it was her power that brought him back to peer into the windows of her home after the murder.

Banker Locks Bandit in Vault; Calls Police

Vancouver, B. C.—A. E. Wilson, branch manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, captured a holdup man by rushing out of the vault and slamming the door. The intruder, ignoring clerks shut in with him, fired at the lock until police removed him.

The would-be robber, Joseph Leonard, eighteen, displayed two pistols as he entered the bank. Soon he had Wilson and two assistants cornered in the vault. When he went in to seek the loot, Wilson ran out, banged the door and called the police.

Real Bull Breaks Neck Chasing Billboard Ball

Caledonia, Wis.—Whatever may be said regarding the ability of the man who paints pictures on the big signboards over the country, a Holstein bull broke its neck because one dancer portrayed a bull too life-like.

While William Boushon of Caledonia, was hauling his bull to Arlington the animal copied the signboard bull glaring at him. The Holstein followed a challenge, kicked the rear of the gun to splinters, negotiated a sewer and broke his neck.

THE LIBERIAN TIC-TOC.

The natives of West Africa tame these birds and keep them in canary cages, where they are used for timing cooking. When happy their tails will start swinging, and the joints will tick just like a grandfather's clock. It takes about eighty ticks to thoroughly boil a mutton, but 240 ticks to a sailor, so the natives but down their cooking time on the latter by setting three tic-tocs to ticking out eighty ticks. The natives thus show their cleverness at mathematics.

If you want a pet tic-toc around the house, they will be found to balance very nicely on a curtain ring like a parrot.

An almond kernel forms the head, while a large single peanut makes up the body. Cloves will do for feet, and a piece of popcorn for the topknot. The pendulum tail is a toothpick with a raisin attached as a balancer. Metropolitan Newspaper Service (Monday—The Great Corned Whiff.)

Roach, Pantry Pest, Is Native of India

Sir Francis Drake, buccaneer of three hundred years ago, once took as a prize a Spanish ship loaded with spices from India. It is recorded that on that ship was a strange "black bugge" which the Spaniards called cucarache, which strictly speaking, meant "wood louse." This cucarache became the modern cockroach.

It was a native of India, never until that time seen in Europe. These cockroaches, however, were sturdy fellows, given to living in dark and narrow places, and therefore happy in the holds of ships that piled the seas. Thus these argosies of commerce have served as a means of broadcasting the cockroach, and it is found in abundance wherever man dwells. His bones have provided suitable breeding and dwelling places for these children of the warm countries.

New species, one in America and one in Australia, were found and distributed. So have world-girdling multitudes of them appeared where before there were none at all or but local tribes. This increase in the range and numbers of the cockroach is typical of the man influence in the insect world.

Tribute to a Painter

Millais (the painter) told me of a real and graceful compliment paid him by an American who bred horses. When Millais had finished the American's portrait, he was allowed to see it for the first time. There was a long silence while he gazed at the picture—so long, indeed, that the painter got anxious. At last the man said, "I breed horses, and it is my habit every morning after breakfast to stand at a certain window in my house, and the fillies come galloping up at the sight of me and feed from my hand. When I get that picture home, I shall stand it at that window, and I am very sure the fillies will come galloping up."—Sir Johnson Forbes Robertson in the Sunday Times, London.

Hopi and Apache Dolls

The bureau of American ethnology says that the dolls of the Hopi Indians are never made of clay, but are manufactured from the subterranean branch of the cottonwood tree. They are not necessarily rain gods, although the need of rain is so omnipresent and these images are copies of certain dolls which appear on rain altars, that they are sometimes called rain gods. They are, however, not gods, but dolls, and are made by the parents and given to the children as playthings.

The dolls of the Apache, as well as certain other tribes, are often made of adobe, and are probably used in much the same way as the Hopi dolls.

"All Fools' Day" Legend

There is a tradition among Jews that the custom of making fools on the first of April arose from the fact that Noah sent out the dove on the first day of the month corresponding to our April, before the water had abated. To perpetuate the memory of the deliverance of Noah and his family, it was customary of this anniversary to punish persons who had forgotten the remarkable circumstances connected with the date, by sending them on some foolish errand, similar to that on which the patriarch sent the foolish bird from the windows of the ark.

Judge Russell has tried and disposed of over 2,000 criminal and civil cases.

Has heard and determined over 700 insanity cases.

Has passed upon and signed 7,500 orders, motions and other Special Term matters.

Has heard and determined 3,400 cases in Children's Court since November, 1922.

VOTE FOR HIM

Hon. Pierce H. Russell

Republican Candidate for Supreme Court Justice.

There are 175 members in the Rensselaer County Bar.

Judge Russell had the unanimous endorsement of the Rensselaer County Bar Association for Supreme Court Justice in 1921. There has been no endorsement of any candidate since in Rensselaer County or any other County of the District.

GOVERNOR MILLER said of Judge Russell when application was made to him to appoint Judge Russell to fill the vacancy caused by the election of Justice Chase to the Court of Appeals:

"That were qualifications, character or experience to be the guiding elements, there would be no doubt as to the selection of Judge Russell."

"I have heard of Judge Russell through many channels, and have no doubt of his qualifications."

The Governor pointed out, however, that the needs of the communities affected as well as the geographical phases of the situation must be considered.

Service such as Judge Russell has rendered deserves recognition. He should be elected to the SUPREME COURT BENCH.

PARTNERSHIP IN STREET TRAVEL

One Cannot Afford to Be Reckless in This Age of Automobile Perils.

(By C. B. AUEL, President National Safety Council.)

The motorist and pedestrian are partners in the street. Like in a commercial partnership or a marriage partnership, the failure of one partner is the hardship of both.

Do unto your partner as you would have him do unto you, is the Golden Rule of the street.

In this age of motor perils one can't afford to be reckless. Twenty thousand persons, the young and the old, the sprightly and the feeble, were killed in the streets and on the highways of our country last year. Some of these were killed because they didn't respect the rights of motorists, and some were killed because motorists didn't respect the rights of pedestrians. The same causes apply to the deaths of many of the automobile passengers.

Right-of-Way Question. A lot of people say: "Well, who has got the right-of-way?" That question has not yet been answered by lawmakers as between the motorist and the pedestrian.

Since all of us are pedestrians at times, we have first-hand knowledge of the feelings of those who walk, as well as those who ride.

It is sometimes aggravating to stand on a corner waiting to cross a street without ever a motorist stopping his car to give you the right-of-way. And if an automobile driver does stop and wave to you to cross the street, you hail him as "one man in a million."

Partnership Affair. The motorist does not own the road. Long before there were automobiles, pedestrians traversed our streets and highways. But pedestrians don't own the road, either. It is a 50-50 partnership based on respect of one for the other.

If you are driving an automobile, give the pedestrian a safe chance to cross the street, and if you are a pedestrian, do not thoughtlessly jeopardize yourself and the motorist by carelessly thrusting yourself into his path, in the hope that he may stop.

If you conduct yourself courteously whether pedestrian or motorist, you are doing your part to prevent accidents, and remember that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

When Car Sticks in Mud Don't Speed Up Engine

When the car becomes stuck in the mud do not try to put on speed to get out, for this will only spin the wheels and make them sink deeper. Put the engine in low, go slow, and do not try to turn from side to side. Keep straight ahead. If the front wheels are turned ahead the engine must push the car against the weight of the mud ahead.

If the wheels start spinning put on the emergency brake just enough to stop the spin. That will frequently enable them to take hold. If it is possible, get an old rope, board, bushes, sacks, or even a quantity of paper, and put it under the wheels to help give traction. It is also advisable to apply chains before tackling wet or muddy roads.

World's Automobile Bill

The world spent $3,300,000,000 for new motor vehicles in 1924, a survey by the United States Department of Commerce shows, says the Popular Science Monthly. On January 1 of this year there were in operation in all countries 18,615,000 passenger cars, 2,882,000 trucks and 1,282,000 motor-cycles.

Watch Back Curtain

An open car with the top up and the back curtain out, or with the ceiling broken, is very dangerous to passengers. Carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust will come into the car from suction. The faster the car travels, the more dangerous the condition becomes.

Facts About Falls

If a person fell down a mile shaft of 1,000 feet, it would merely hurt itself on landing, give itself a shake, and run away. A fall would break its bones, whereas all that would remain if a man or a horse had similar adventure would be a spill.

Wooden Jacks Will Keep Tires Off Garage Floor

It is easy to make a set of wooden jacks that will keep tires off the floor. The jack illustrated is designed on the "knuckle joint" principle, using an ordinary strap hinge as a knuckle. A 4-by-4-inch block serves as a base, held to the lower member by spikes. To prevent the length of 3/4-inch pipe.

Simple Jack to Keep Tires Off the Ground When the Car is Stored.

used as a detachable handle, from lifting the hub cap when the jack is raised, a space block is attached to the front of the lower member.

The jack is shoved under the wheel, back of the hub cap, as shown in the illustration. Then the pipe handle is inserted in the hole and the top end of it pushed toward the car, and the wheel is raised to height desired.—Popular Science Monthly.

Blow-out Patch Handy for Use in Emergency

The importance of the emergency blow-out patch as a part of the motorist's equipment is understood by all experienced motorists. When the motorist discovers a clean-cut fabric break, stone bruise or a small cut entirely through tread and fabric, he simply applies the patch, inserts and inflates the tube and continues his trip. But it must also be understood by the tourist that this patch is for emergency, not for permanent repairs. At the end of the trip during which an accident has occurred necessitating the use of the emergency patch, the tourist should see that the patch is taken out and the casing repaired properly at any vulcanizing shop. In this way the emergency patch will have served the purpose and the mileage-giving qualities of the casing are not impaired.

On the other hand, as the tire causes him no further trouble, the motorist is likely to forget the patch he applied for emergency purposes. The result of this neglect would be that by the natural flexing and bending of the tire the patch is forced into the cut or break, wedging the fabric apart until it becomes too weak to resist the inside air pressure and a blow-out occurs, ripping the fabric apart to such an extent that it is beyond repair. With careful treatment the emergency fabric patch has saved the life of many a casing, but it has also brought more than one casing to death by thoughtless neglect.

Back-Seat Driving Going Out of Fashion Rapidly

"In the old days when a car was going to make a turn or come to a stop, it was no unusual sight to see arms extended from the car in every direction," says Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club. "Back-seat driving has gone out of fashion to a great extent, but a reaction in the matter of signaling has set in. Today the back-seat passenger refrains from signaling, but in too many cases the driver also neglects to signal."

"Many motorists are of the opinion that this is merely a courtesy of the road, whereas it is a definite obligation imposed by law. The motor vehicle act in Illinois, says: 'No driver of a vehicle shall suddenly stop, slow down, or attempt to turn around without first signaling his intentions with outstretched arms or otherwise to those closely following in the rear.' In Chicago a city ordinance requires drivers moving out from the curb to signal their intentions. This is a common-sense regulation in effect in most cities, and one which would prevent many accidents."

National Guard

The allotment of National Guardsmen given to a state was determined by a general board which considered the purpose of allocation of those units. The allotment, although primarily based on population, took into consideration other factors as well.

"NON-PARTISAN" BUNK.

In line with the cheap trickery practiced by Van Etten & Co. in Ulster county in making public garbled figures, advertising Democratic rallies as "taxpayers meetings," and other unscrupulous campaign moves too numerous to mention, is the letter sent out by the "Non-Partisan Judiciary Committee," soliciting votes for Judge Coffey. Sometimes and in some places there are genuine non-partisan committees of lawyers who make recommendations as to the selection of judges. These recommendations have weight, for the reason that they are made by men of character, who are known to be above petty tricks.

Apparently attempting to trade on this condition, an alleged non-partisan committee has been formed in this judicial district. In reality it is merely a Democratic campaign club. The chairman of the alleged committee is D-Cady Herick, and to make the "non-partisanship" plain and binding Everett Fowler of Kingston is the secretary. The other Ulster county members are James A. Betts, John G. Van Etten, Alton B. Parker, Howard Ward Chipp, James Jenkins, Harry E. Schrick, Henry Klein, William H. Grogan, Mark Sampson, Milton O. Auchmoody, Thomas F. Coughlin.

A more dishonorable attempt at deception than to represent these men as non-partisan it is hard to imagine. But the attempt is characteristic of those who make it whenever they suffer an acute attack of office-hunger.

SANTA FE AND DIXIE TRAILS.

It is an interesting coincidence that the Dixie Highway was completed just as the hundredth anniversary celebration of the Santa Fe Trail was announced. How different, yet how similar they are as expressions of the American spirit of adventure and progress. It was in 1825 that Thomas H. Benton, the sturdy, forward-looking Missouri frontiersman, induced Congress to appropriate money to mark the trail running southwest to Santa Fe, which not only meant development in trade but gave promise of the furthering of his country's "manifest destiny" to expand all the way to the Pacific coast. Within less than 25 years such expansion did follow, and, though the old trail ceased to be largely used when its general line was followed by the Atlantic & Pacific Railway, the motor car age provided its "come back" and now, with most of it well paved, automobiles speed over it by the hundreds of thousands.

The modern Dixie Highway is wholly a product of the motor car age. It runs southeast from Sault Ste. Marie on the Canadian border to Miami in South Florida, from the frozen North of the winter months to the green, smiling tropic South. The Canadian and Northern-State American flee from their snows and, after a day or two of speeding through the stimulating out-of-doors, can breathe the odor of the very "roces of December" which Byron listed among desirable but impossible things. All the scenery along the Dixie Highway, however, is by no means as modern as the great new trail itself, for it pushes through the Southern Alleghenies at points where but a short time ago even wheeled vehicles were never seen and where women carried sacks of corn on mule-back to the water-mills on tumbling mountain streams. The Dixie Highway as well as the Santa Fe Trail opens virgin territory to the world's advance.

THE FLORIDA BOOM.

Governor Martin of Florida complains that his state is much abused, being widely pictured as a land of get-rich-quick Wallingfordes, where the unwary are being daily lured by land-pirates; that, in consequence, Ohio bankers have paid for advertisements warning would-be speculators, that Indianapolis is rushing an invest-in-Indiana-first movement, and that Illinois papers are printing many stories of Florida frauds. All of which, Governor Martin thinks, ought to be stopped.

But there are citizens of Florida itself who say things are going on there that ought to be stopped. There is report of 1,300 curbstone brokers who have been run out of Florida in a week. Senator du Pont is quoted as saying that he wants Florida blue-sky laws invoked against fraudulent promoters. There is news of half a million building lots boomed for sale in the Miami-West Palm Beach region alone. "Hundreds of thousands are induced to buy simply to make money on a resale."

Discrimination between reckless inflation and the essentially sound side of the boom appears to be what is needed. There is no reason to fear for Florida's future. A railway president has given impressive reasons why he is putting $25,000,000 into Florida's extensions, a steamship owner has explained why he invested $12,000,000 more in Florida last year, and the state is reported to have received half a million immigrants in two years, in most cases aiming to stay and work. All that is urgently demanded, it would appear, is a check on "land pirates" together with due warning to too credulous and eager investors.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
NOT CONDEMNED FOR LIFE.

Every physician has had cases come to him for treatment, and in the course of the examination the patient states "You know I have a weak heart, doctor. I was examined when I was a youngster and the doctor told me to be careful about my heart. So of course I have never played any games or taken much exercise, and I've always been afraid to apply for insurance because I didn't want to be turned down."

And yet when the physician examines the heart he finds a healthy heart, perhaps a little below par in its muscular strength due to the extreme "carefulness" of the patient. Sometimes again it is the lungs or perhaps the kidneys that the patient had been warned about years before, and had carefully nursed the condition right into manhood or womanhood.

There can be no question but that the lives of many men and women have been made gloomy by the statement of a physician, who in an endeavor to safeguard the patient, has actually frightened him for life. Now the point about this is that at the time the first doctor made his diagnosis, there was likely some condition he thought merited care on the part of the patient, but conditions change in the body as they do anywhere or everywhere else. Although a true heart murmur may remain for life, that is not considered a serious matter now, if the heart muscle itself is strong.

Similarly a youngster who has had frequent colds might have some slight evidences still remaining when examined by a physician. This physician notices this, also, that the youngster is underweight, and with the idea of making him take care of himself, tells him that he will have to be very careful about his chest.

Or perhaps on examination of the urine of a child some albumen or sugar is found. This while worthy of further examination doesn't mean that the youngster will always have the condition, that his kidneys are "weak."

So if you or your youngster have been told that something is wrong, carry out the instructions given you, and then some time later consult the same or another physician to see whether or not the condition has been rectified.

In the last of a series of articles on radio disturbances, the efforts of the government to eliminate the interference caused by an overabundance of broadcasting stations is discussed. The 1925 national radio conference will have among its principal problems the allocation of wave lengths to the many stations.

Washington Oct. 31.—By far the most serious difficulty of the radio listener is the interference caused among broadcasting stations operating nearly the same wave lengths. The anxiety of hundreds of corporations and individuals to get their particular message "over"—in other words, to state their own business—has brought about the operation of a great many more stations than the wave bands between 200 and 600 can accommodate.

Check on Stations.
If the number of stations were unlimited, the radio listener would get nothing but a nightmare of catcalls and squeals. The Department of Commerce now maintains a check on the stations by its power to prevent operation except where licenses are obtained.

However, Secretary of Commerce Hoover believes that there is a great necessity for a new radio law which will confer sufficient power on some governmental agency to properly regulate the stations which go on the air nightly.

At the present time, stations in all cities are dividing time. As a result of this, in many cases broadcast of highest excellence are silent part of the time, while others presenting a mediocre entertainment bore the listeners.

Hoover has pointed out that while abhorring the idea of governmental censorship of radio, some immediate steps must be taken to protect the public against inferior programs, especially in view of the fact that the good programs are being silenced to make way on the air for the others.

Radio, in Hoover's idea, is rapidly approaching the plane of a public utility. As such it must be regulated for the benefit of the public just as the railroads and other public service bodies are forced to meet certain requirements.

Just how this will be accomplished will be discussed at the radio conference. A strong sentiment is developing to force certain stations to improve their programs to meet the standards set up by others, or get off the air.

Hoover for Regulation.

In discussing the radio situation, Hoover said:

"I am summoning the fourth annual radio conference in Washington in which all elements—the listeners, the manufacturers, the broadcasters, the radio press, the distributors and the government—will come around a common table for the fourth time to discuss mutual problems of this industry."

"This is the only industry where everybody agrees that there must be regulation. Without regulation we would have complete chaos in the air. And as every word by radio is an interstate performance we cannot avoid government regulation."

"Attempt to regulate rigidly by law without the cooperation of the industry and the public would, I believe, stifle progress. And this manner of regulation by which all parties sit in for solution of problems is unique in our relations of government and industry."

Hoover pointed out that the country still has plenty of unsolved problems.

WAR NEWS IN CONGRESS.

There is nothing in the Journal of the Continental Congress for October 31, 1775 to show it, but on that day the Congress received news which materially affected all its subsequent deliberations. From Falmouth (Portland, Me.), it heard of the bombardment and burning of that town on October 18th by British warships; and from London it received indisputable proof that the king was hiring European mercenary troops to fight his American colonies for him. How, with such news coming in from day to day, could any of them still hope that an honorable "accommodation" or settlement could be arranged with the old country except by force of arms? Why did they not issue the Declaration of Independence then and there?

The answer to this latter question will gradually reveal itself as this series of stories develops. For the moment, the point of interest is, what did they think, for instance, about the wanton destruction of an undefended coast town, and what were they going to do about it? They thought about it, beyond a doubt, exactly as George Washington wrote in a letter which the Congress received from him on November 1. To the Commander-in-Chief the burning of Falmouth was "an outrage, exceeding in barbarity and cruelty every hostile act practiced among civilized nations." Still more feelingly did Washington express his wrath in a letter to the people of Falmouth.

"The desolation and misery which ministerial vengeance had planned," he said in this letter, "in contempt of every principle of humanity, and so lately brought on the town of Falmouth, I know not how sufficiently to commiserate. Nor can my compassion for the general suffering be conceived beyond the true measure of my feelings."

The contribution of October 31, 1775 to the progress of the American campaign against Canada was the defeat of Sir Guy Carleton, governor of Canada, near St. John's Quebec, by Seth Warner and his Green Mountain Boys and a New York regiment. Carleton had sent out 300 Indians, Canadians and British regulars to relieve his beleaguered fortress at St. John's. But Warner, lying in ambush on the southern shore of the St. Lawrence, crossed the river and drove the river and drove them back with considerable loss.

Don't put off hearing The New Orthophonic Victrola

PEOPLE have never heard anything like it. You have never. There has never been anything like it. There is nothing to compare with it. That is why you should hear it.

It is here. It is an entirely new instrument. New in principle, new in construction, new patents, new cabinets.

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, the March King, heard the new Orthophonic Victrola play a march. He was enthusiastic. "Why gentlemen," he said, "that's a band!" It was the highest tribute he could have paid.

MME. ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK said, "It is marvelous—it is grand!" Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, said, "This instrument reproduces not only artistic music, in which it is possible clearly to distinguish every instrument, but it has made it possible for the listener to discern the individuality of each member of the orchestra."

KREISLER, WERRENATH, JOURNET, and many others of the huge family of famous Victor artists have hailed the new Orthophonic Victrola as the greatest musical instrument since the invention of the first Victor.

You will agree with them. Demonstrations all this week. Come in—you are invited.

CHANGING PLACES

This is the story of how the parents took the places of children and the children took the places of parents in the town of Haven-Saw. Of course, as parents had so long been parents and had had so much more experience, it was better that in most cases there should be more than two children in a pair of parents. In all well-regulated families there are only two parents. But in some families there are only two children to a set of parents, and sometimes only one child to a set of parents. It was this way in Haven-Saw, at any rate. And in cases where there was only one child to two parents, this child got help and advice from the others after they had all changed places.

There had been a good deal of talk about this beforehand, which was really only natural. It was quite an unusual happening. In fact, Haven-Saw is the only town I've ever heard of where they did such a thing.

Many of the parents had been saying, more often than usual, that they only wished they could be children again. They said this when the children grumbled a bit at the thought of school opening soon, or when the children urged to be allowed to sit up later, or when they wanted big, expensive toys.

"Why, when we were children," the parents would say, "we went to bed without a word the minute we were told. And children want so much these days. In our time we had simple tastes and were pleased with so little. You do not appreciate being young. Children have nothing to worry them."

The children began wishing they could really show the parents what it felt like to be children, and they felt they would like to be the ones who were grown up for a change. Well, as this was the general feeling in the town, there seemed no reason why all shouldn't just change places, and one day, just a week before the opening of school, the great change took place.

The idea had actually started in the Fenwick family. Sally and Robert Fenwick had talked quite a little about it, and it was surprising how, once the idea caught hold, it became so possible. At first there was great confusion. Of course only the parents and children actually changed places. Those who were not parents stayed the same, such as the teachers and a number of aunts and uncles. The grandmothers and grandfathers didn't change. They, in any event, often took the side of a child, and had been known to say to a parent:

"You did the very same when you were little."

When the relatives from other places heard of this unusual happening in Haven-Saw, they decided they would not pay any visits for awhile. It was trying enough to visit in a house full of restless children. Where the children were the ones in authority the relatives knew they would have no peace.

The children handed over their school books to their parents and began to order the meals and make their business plans. It took almost a week before things were in running order. The cooks stayed on. They liked the idea of a change without having to move. In houses where there weren't cooks the one who liked to mix biscuits and cakes and puddings and pies and put big roasts in the oven took this part of the work.

Yes, it was surprising how quickly everything did straighten itself out and how happy everyone was with the new arrangement.

After all, the parents had been very obliging about this. If Daddy and Mother Fenwick hadn't agreed to it in the first place when Sally and Robert and Natalie too, had talked it over with them, probably no one else in the town would have taken the lead.

But Mother Fenwick was a leader in the town and she set the style. Many a mother had cut her skirt the length of Mother Fenwick's only to find out later that Mother Fenwick was wearing out an old one and wasn't setting a style at all. Still, she had a great influence just the same. Daddy Fenwick was the banker in the town, and was a prominent citizen.

When such an important man as Daddy Fenwick decided upon something it was only natural that the others should say:

"A brave and fearless man. We will follow his lead."

ROUND THE FESTIVE BOARD

When one good-sized chicken will not serve the family if increased by unexpected company, try serving it this way—it will go nearly twice as far.

Chicken Warmen.—Stew the chicken with one onion, having plenty of broth. Remove the chicken and onion when cooked and add to the broth three lumps of celery cut into small pieces; cook the celery until tender but not soft. Meanwhile remove the chicken from the bones and shred and cut into small pieces, keep hot in a double boiler or dish set into hot water. Remove the cooked celery to another dish, keeping it hot and add noodles to the broth, cook them and what broth is left thickening cream, and the dish is ready to serve. Place a nest of noodles on the serving plate, then a spoonful or two of the seasoned celery, then on top the minced chicken, adding a bit of gravy, or sprinkle with a few croutons. A good-sized chicken, with plenty of celery and noodles and broth, will serve eighteen or twenty for a ladies' luncheon. The seasoning is important in this dish as in all cookery. Taste it often to be sure it has enough.

French Macaron Cream.—Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in three tablespoonfuls of water. Scald two cupfuls of milk with one square of chocolate, add the yolks of three eggs beaten with one half cupful of sugar. Stir constantly until the mixture thickens, then add the stiffly beaten whites, two-thirds of a cupful of macaroons rolled, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Turn into individual molds and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

Veal Cutlets.—Wipe a slice of veal and cut into serving-sized pieces. Cover with boiling water and simmer until the meat is tender. Drain and sprinkle with salt, dip into egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat. For sauce melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one tablespoonful of flour and one cupful of veal broth. Season with salt, pepper, onion juice and a teaspoonful of grated horseradish, with a cupful of cream.

For Deep Chest Colds

All colds should be treated with vapors, for vapors alone can carry the medication DIRECTLY to the air passages and lungs.

Vicks is a "vapor" treatment in salve form. For deep chest colds you first apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then massage briskly with Vicks for 5 minutes, spread on thickly and cover with a flannel cloth.

Vicks not only penetrates like a poultice or plaster, but the ingredients, vaporized by the body heat, are inhaled all night long.

This double action usually checks the most stubborn cold overnight.

Expression's Origin

Sometimes we speak of a rich man's son having been born with a silver spoon in his mouth. That expression originated more than 700 years ago, when it was the fashion for wealthy goldsmiths to present their newly christened grandchildren with a silver spoon. These were regarded by the parents as actual wealth, for, like all silver, they could always be melted down into money.

Primogeniture

The law of primogeniture is a law of inheritance by which the eldest son takes by descent the real property of the deceased ancestor. This rule of descent, due to the feudal system, has been since superseded everywhere except in England. It was introduced with the rest of the common-law system into the American colonies, but was abandoned and abandoned by them in an early period.

Better Homes In Ellenville

Chairman of Local Better Homes Committee Appointed by Secretary Hoover of Department of Commerce—Objects of Better Homes Movement.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 31. (Special)—

Plans for the 1926 Better Homes in America campaign in Ellenville got under way this week with the acceptance of Mrs. Helen B. Holman as chairman of the local volunteer Better Homes Committee for Ellenville.

The appointment as local chairman was made by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, who is president of Better Homes in America.

The 1926 campaign culminates, as have the other annual Better Homes campaigns, in many hundreds of demonstrations of fully equipped small homes in cities, towns, and rural communities throughout the country. Starting in 1922 with a few hundred demonstrations, this educational movement has grown by leaps and bounds until this year two thousand communities celebrated "Better Homes Week" with lecture programs, contests and demonstrations of new or remodeled houses.

The week of April 15-May 1, 1926, has been set aside for the year 1926 for this purpose.

Strongly endorsing and adding the Better Homes movement are many departments and bureaus of the Federal Government, and more than a score of national organizations of men and women of great numerical strength and enormous influence. President Coolidge himself is chairman of the Advisory Council of Better Homes in America, which includes executives of more than a score of organizations of national scope which are cooperating with the Better Homes movement.

This movement, entirely non-commercial in character, originated in a suggestion by the late President Harding, who had a keen interest in it. His successor, President Coolidge, while he was vice-president and in his present office as our nation's chief executive, has warmly endorsed the movement, and identified his name with it. Begun as a private enterprise, it soon reached such proportions that its founders realized that it must be put upon an independent basis. A reorganization was effected, Mr. Hoover becoming president of Better Homes in America, and Dr. James Ford, of the faculty of Harvard University, was secured to assume active direction of the movement, which post he still occupies.

Briefly, the objectives sought by Better Homes in America are:

1. To make accessible to all citizens knowledge of high standards in house building, home furnishing, and home life.

2. To encourage the building of sound, beautiful, single-family houses, and to encourage the reconditioning and remodeling of old houses.

Although peculiar conditions in certain places, and the circumstances of certain families make it necessary that there shall be apartments and tenements, it is strongly felt that the happiest and most wholesome home life is possible for a family with growing children only in a detached single-family house. Such a home should be the American ideal and should be made accessible to all American families.

3. To encourage thrift for home ownership, and to spread knowledge of methods of financing the purchase or building of a home.

4. To encourage general study of the housing problem and of problems of family life, and to help each community to benefit from its study.

5. To encourage the furnishing of homes economically and in good taste.

6. To supply knowledge of the means of eliminating drudgery and waste of effort in housekeeping, and to spread information about public agencies which will assist housekeepers in their problems.

7. To encourage the establishment of courses of instruction in home economics in the public schools, and particularly the construction of school practice houses and home economics cottages where girls in our public schools and colleges may by actual practice, learn the best methods of conducting household operations and of home-making.

8. To promote the improvement of house lots, yards and neighborhoods, and to encourage the making of home gardens and home playgrounds.

9. To extend knowledge of the ways of making home life happier, through the development of home music, home play, home arts and crafts, and the home library.

10. To encourage special study and discussion of the problem of character building in the home.

These objectives are brought home to the people of America through the thousands of local demonstrations. Usually, a house is built or borrowed, and under the direction of the local committee there is demonstrated the best which the community affords as a home for a family of modest income.

Good Mother Nature is always "broadcasting" a bountiful "singing of health." But, just as it is necessary in radio, one must "tune in" to get results.

Only when the home is completely equipped with modern, sanitary plumbing in bedroom, bathroom, laundry and kitchen is it equipped to "tune in" and enjoy Nature's broadcast of health which is waiting to be brought into the home.

The Church Bowling League is open to all churches of the city. Any church wishing to enter a team in the league is invited to have a representative present at the organization meeting Wednesday evening.

An English girl visiting in America and Kansas City for the first time, passed overland at an hour of corn harvest for the other day at a hotel, then watched her American friend demonstrate the process of roasting corn consumption. "It is fascinating to watch you," she told her friend. "I don't believe I'll try it—I've just had my hair washed."—Cappie's Weekly.

Yale Squad a Slight Favorite

In Today's Struggle Despite the Showing Army Made against Notre Dame—Four Regulars out of Yale Line-up—The Probable Line-up.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 31.—A quarter of a century of football re-lations, during which Yale has emerged victorious from 15 of the 24 contests, will be closed here today for the edification of the thousands packing the Yale bowl when the followers of the Bull Dog clash on a muddy field with the Army.

Only three times in the last 24 years have the West Pointers been able to outscore the Eli but on six occasions they have succeeded in holding the tallies to a tie. Yale, however, can look back across the vista of years and take cheer from their 24 to 0 victory in 1899 their high water mark scored against the Army.

Today, despite the Army's victory over Notre Dame, Yale entered the game a slight favorite. This despite two technical weaknesses of Yale, first, injuries which have taken from their line four regulars, Halfbacks Ben Outler and Billy Kline, Right Tackle Ben Butterworth and Left Guard Bill Webster.

The second handicap is the uncertainty of Yale's newly organized rush line.

Against this, West Point's eleven is composed of players, who had years of gridiron experience before they entered the military academy.

The probable line-up.

SYRACUSE RULES 7 TO 5 FAVORITES OVER PENN STATE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 football followers will watch the gridiron battle in the big, gray bowl on the hill this afternoon when the snarling, raging lions of Penn State make their fourth annual attempt to lower the colors of the high powered, unbeaten Orange Juggernauts.

Perfect weather, a tinge of late October frost in the air and a smiling sun overhead will greet the two teams when the whistle blows at 2:30 o'clock to send them into action. The field a bit slippery from recent rains, has been covered with a blanket of straw and it is believed the footing will be secure enough to enable the backfield meteors to attain their highest efficiency, when this shroud is lifted early this afternoon.

The lions will enter the game on the short end of the betting odds, the speculators from State College today insisting that Syracuse be a 7 to 5 favorite, because of the fact that Penn State has not succeeded in defeating Syracuse in three attempts to date and that the Orange has compiled an impressive record while the lions, beaten by the Golden tornado of Georgia Tech and held to low scores by Lebanon Valley, Marietta and Michigan State, seem to lack the fire and dash of other years.

CORNELL MEETS COLUMBIA TODAY AT POLO GROUNDS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 31.—One of the gridiron classics of the year will take place here this afternoon when Cornell and Columbia meet at the Polo Grounds.

Gloomy Gil Doble's upstarters, who have yet to be beaten or even scored on this season, enter the contest slight favorites.

The blue and white, in losing to Ohio State at Columbus two weeks ago, at least gained some experience under fire, however, while the Cornell eleven, made up entirely of new comers, has not been severely tested. Then too, George Pease, Columbia's captain and star quarterback, kept out of the Ohio game by injuries, will be back in the line-up today.

The weather dawned clear and cold following yesterday's snow.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

"Pretty Ladies," the Metro Goldwyn production, is playing at the Keeney Theatre for the last time tonight. The short features include the Keeney news, topics of the day, Hair Cartoon and Lloyd Hamilton in "Jonah Jones."

The last two performances of the variety bill at the Opera House will be tonight. Delany June and Her Horlick Revue is the feature attraction and contains many novelties. The feature photograph is "A Fight For Honor."

Pennsylvania Is Favored to Win

Despite the Absence of Kreuze, Fields and Sieracki—41,000 Expected to View Struggle—The Probable Line-up.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, Oct. 31.—"This is Red Grange day." This is the day when Grange, greatest ball runner in captivity, will try his tricks against the Penn defensive. This is the day on which Grange will attempt to buck and wing the Illinois attack into a victory over Pennsylvania in the greatest intersectional game of the season.

The day dawned bright and clear and everything was green. It was dulcet sweet to Illinois which had been afraid the field would be heavy. A heavy field meant the stopping of Grange and to Illinois this meant the thing to a defeat.

Grange, having a firm footing and Penn minus Kreuze, Fields and Sieracki, called for a game so even that no one can tell the difference.

Betting, however, was strongly in favor of Pennsylvania, which has come to the greatest intersectional test of its career with an unbeaten record. The betting was in favor of Pennsylvania because of its staunch defense.

The only thing that lowered Pennsylvania's stock was the fact that the injuries seemed destined to keep Kreuze, Fields and Sieracki on the line. Long was supposed to take Kreuze's place, but you take Kreuze's place as often as you take him from a baby.

It was the big intersectional game of the East and Pennsylvania was ready. So was Illinois. It was to be a case of the famed Pennsylvania defense versus the greatest ball runner of the modern generation, and none could say what would happen. It was to be Red Grange's first appearance in the East, the section which gave him birth, and then lost responsibility for him. The middle west claimed him as their own, but the east had the original honor. Grange was born in Pennsylvania and to Pennsylvania he returned for his greatest test as a football player.

The east was hysterical about its first chance to see the greatest ball runner of modern times. A crowd of nearly 65,000 was expected to see the young man in action.

Following is the probable line-up:

Penn.	Position	Illinois
Singer	L.E.	Kassel
Wilkinson	L.T.	Marshall
Pike	L.G.	Shirley
Robinson	C.	Reinisch
Butler	R.G.	Mittler
Sieracki	R.T.	Brown

Kelth	Q.B.	Grange
Douglas	L.H.B.	Daugherty

ORGANIZING MERCANTILE VOLLEY BALL LEAGUE

Physical Director Buley of the local Y. M. C. A. is organizing a Mercantile Volley Ball League.

Games in this league will be played on Friday evenings from seven to eight thirty. They will be arranged in sets of three games and four teams will play each Friday.

Already four teams have been signed for the league. These are the Kingston Trust Company, Everett & Treadwell Company, Kingston Gas and Electric Company, and the Silk Mills. It is also expected that teams will be entered by the Freeman Publishing Company and F. B. Mathews & Company, thus making a six team league.

Any mercantile house having five or six men in its employ can enter a team in this league. It is not necessary that these men all know how to play. Volley ball is a game that can be played by the beginner with fine results.

Additional teams wishing to enter should call Physical Director Buley at the Y. M. C. A. at once.

Crater Brings to Mind Ancient Idea of Hell

The news that Halemauana, the hottest crater of the Kilauea volcano in Hawaii, is active again and has thrown up black dust clouds to a height of 7,000 feet, reminds me of my visit to the Pit of Everlasting Fire. That is what the name Halemauana means, and it corresponds to its description, writes G. L. D. Jones. The Japanese liner in which I was making a ten-weeks' voyage from Hongkong to Valparaiso (Incidentally, I believe, the longest passenger voyage in the world) not only called at Honolulu, but at Hilo, and from Hilo—a port in the making—I went with the few other white passengers on board by motor car to Kilauea and Halemauana.

Our chauffeur was a Japanese of a Japanese-Hawaiian mixture. In his capacity for driving I had little confidence at the start, and out of his hands we were all very glad to get at the finish, more especially as the motor car itself had seen better days. It had been warm when I left Hilo (in whites and a sun-belt). When the car stopped I was shivering with cold—on the tropic line, with an active volcano at my feet. There was a great house for volcano visitors who wished to stop the night. All around was a black landscape of waste ground, striated by scalded tracks of lava from former eruptions. We picked our way down along a well-trodden path and suddenly we saw Halemauana.

We were at the end of the world, and below us was a vivid representation of the ancient idea of Hell. The pit was glowing with fire, red-hot fire. It was out of late sections of lava. Patches of porous pools of red-hot lava, now suddenly agitated into fountains, threw of red-hot fire now overflowing their tanks. Ten, twenty, thirty pools and fountains and rivers all blazing at once, all working at red-hot pressure, were suddenly becoming even more extremely scorching than before. That is Halemauana.

The Reason Why Public Records of Public Funds Are the Private Property of the Republican Machine.

Analyzing the political advertisement of the County Treasurer, in the form of a letter, which criticizes an inspection by a taxpayer of the public records of the public funds, the published statement in that letter shows:

That the amount of public funds deposited during the year 1925 in The Kingston Trust Company and its Branch amounts to the sum of $1,410,976.43.

The letter states, "The Kingston Trust Company is used by me as a clearing house for all funds coming into my hands."

Assuming this to be so, the aggregate of all the public funds deposited in ALL the other banks in the County of Ulster is only $194,352.28, less than 14% of the amount received by the Kingston Trust Company and its Branch.

The Kingston Trust Company retaining, until disbursed for public needs, the use of $1,216,124.15, over 86% of the total public funds.

The Chairman of the Republican County Committee is the President of the Kingston Trust Company.

The Secretary of the Republican County Committee and also County Attorney is the Trust Officer of The Kingston Trust Company.

The present County Treasurer is the Vice-President of the Kingston Trust Company.

The Republican nominee for County Treasurer is a Director of The Kingston Trust Company.

The public good demands that it be freed from this monopoly of the charge and direction of the public funds.

In 1923 and 1924 six towns in Ulster County, containing about 20,000 inhabitants, represented by Democratic Supervisors, were penalized by having their share of the public fund for highway improvement withheld.

The stockholders and depositors of The Kingston Trust Company are not the only taxpayers in Ulster County. The other banks in Ulster County are entitled to their proportionate share of the benefits to be derived from the deposit of public funds.

There is only one remedy, the overthrow of the Republican Machine from the top to the bottom.

As She Understood It

After the usual Saturday romp the children gathered in the drawing room for some music.

As bedtime drew near the mother said: "Now, children, choose a hymn to finish up with, and then you must all say good night."

"Let's have 'We Again Ourselves' 'Gone,'" said a little girl of seven.

"Well, I think that would be more suitable for someone else," replied the mother.

"Oh, but you always air our Sabbath clothes on Saturdays," said the child.

Research Work Needed

It is not safe to say that any individual research work is useless. With so overwhelming a preponderance of the inhabitants of the earth giving their entire attention to the accumulation of wealth which perishes, we can well afford to provide the opportunity for the exceptional man here and there, to investigate any subject to which his enthusiasm directs his attention. If he succeeds in discovering truth, the investment will be of imperishable benefit to the human race.—William Wallace Campbell, President of the University of California.

Local Musician Slightly Injured

John Erue, popular local musician, received a laceration of the scalp Friday evening, at the Junior League Circus Ball. Mr. Erue, a member of the orchestra rendering music at the ball, was struck by the end of the piano, which was being moved on the musicians' platform. A leg of the piano slipped off the platform, causing the accident.

After having the injury dressed at the Breckinridge Hospital, Mr. Erue returned to his home. The injury is not serious but is painful but the local musician will be able to perform his usual duties in a few days.

MAYOR BLOCK.

Mayor Block as Alderman, Supervisor, Assessor, Mayor and owner and manager of a factory, has a training amply qualifying him to manage the business of the city. By his services for the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A., and other societies for aid and improvement, he has proven himself interested in the welfare of others. Following are some of his achievements, to prove his qualification and disposition:

FUEL ECONOMY.

A plan was submitted to his administration for fitting the furnace at the City Hall so it would burn screening coal in place of the usual stove coal. Investigation of the plan was made and the Mayor and Common Council found it good. They adopted it. It is now saving the City the difference between $13.60 a ton for coal, the price for the regular sizes, and $4.00, the price of screenings or barley coal. This illustrates a progressive policy. If a new plan is offered and upon examination it is better than the old, progress demands the new.

SAVING THE COST OF BUILDING A CITY JAIL.

The State Prison Commission condemned the City Hall Jail and suggested that a new jail be built. This would have cost thousands of dollars. Mayor Block, who had been Supervisor, recalled at the time of building the County Jail, detention cells were built and set aside for the use of the City. These cells had been used as store rooms. The Mayor had these rooms fitted up and they now answer the purpose of the City Jail, saving thousands of dollars.

APPEAL FROM THE REPORT ON EQUALIZATION OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS FOR 1924.

Under the protest of the Mayor and Democratic Supervisors, the equalization of the City of Kingston was changed so as to increase the assessed valuation of property in the City of Kingston, one million six hundred thousand dollars. From the decision of the Board of Supervisors the Mayor caused an appeal to be taken. This appeal is pending, one hearing having been had and the State Tax Commission is now inspecting properties for appraisement. It is important that Mayor Block be allowed to continue the appeal and have the City this additional annual tax made by the increased assessment.

TAX REDUCTION.

Notwithstanding the increase in mileage of improved streets, the increased demands of the schools, the extension of water mains and sewers in newly developed territory, and the payment of old notes and bonds, the tax rate under Mayor Block's administration is lower than that of his predecessors.

PUBLIC PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS.

Mayor Block's administration has been active in establishing public parks and playgrounds. A few months ago, through the efforts of Mayor Block's administration, the Thomas Cornell Estate decided to the City of Kingston, as a gift, a valuable tract of land valued at at least $10,000, situated on Wurts Street. This is being rapidly developed as a park and playground.

TRAFFIC SERVICE.

The Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company upon abandoning its tracks in certain streets, offered a bus service which was unsatisfactory to citizens of the territory affected by the abandonment. The Mayor pointed out wherein this offered service was unsatisfactory, but the Railroad Company would not make a chance to conform to the views of those interested. Now Mr. Howard Winne has offered plans for service which will be satisfactory. Mr. Winne is co-operating with the Block administration on this service. The type of bus to be used has been exhibited and it is the last word in bus construction.

SEWER APPARATUS.

Some time ago the Mayor discovered an apparatus for cleaning sewers, saving the cost of excavating streets. This apparatus cost very little money and is giving wonderful satisfaction.

SNOW REMOVAL.

The Board of Public Works last winter installed machinery for the removal of snow, which enables the street department to open streets and clear snow for travel in much less time than it ever was done before, and at less cost.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS AND STREET LIGHTING.

The present administration has installed traffic signals which are a great advantage to convenience and safety of travel. Along Broadway streets signs have been erected which, to be approved, need but to be seen. Under the improved lighting system the present administration entered into a new lighting contract and a lighting system has been installed giving better light than the old, without increased cost.

COLLECTIONS FROM TRACTION COMPANY.

Under Mayor Block's administration the City has collected from the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company $4,244.79 for snow removal and paving.

PAYMENT OF BONDS AND NOTES.

Under Mayor Block's administration, the following amounts of bonds and notes previously contracted have been paid:
1924—Bonds $109,000. Notes $107,548.77.
1925—Bonds $111,000. Notes $2,000,000.

FIRE PROTECTION.

It was found that some high places in the City of Kingston, owing to the lack of water pressure, were without adequate fire protection. Under the present administration the fire department has procured a pumper which will add greatly to protection against fire in these places.

RATE OF INTEREST ON BONDS AND NOTES.

Mayor Block discovered that when necessary to borrow money, it could be borrowed at 4 1/2% instead of 5% and the City is now borrowing at that rate.

ZONING ORDINANCE.

Up until time of Mayor Block's administration the City was without the protection of a zoning ordinance. Other administrations had talked zoning but it remained for the Block administration to accomplish. The ordinance became a fact without any additional cost to the City. Other cities employed expert engineers at salaries ranging from $3,000 to $10,000 a year. The present administration is studying city conditions for the purpose of simplifying and improving the ordinance now in existence.

Surely progress has been made in the management of the city. Some plans have been completed, others are continuing. A change of administration would retard improvements and economies, to the detriment of the City. If you are satisfied with the above record, vote to re-elect Mayor Block.

K. H. S. Playing St. Stephen's

At the Athletic Field This Afternoon—Judge Coughlin Gives Talk on School Spirit—Important Duso League Games Today.

There are great possibilities of many things happening today at the Athletic Field when the Kingston High School grid team faces the St. Stephen's Frosh team. It is the case of two badly beaten teams facing each other and it should result in a good battle. With Coach O'Leary using an almost entirely different eleven and entirely different playing tactics the game today will be a test for the local eleven. The members of the second squad who have been shifted to the first team in place of the regular men are bound to fight every minute to keep on this first squad.

Coughlin Addresses Students.

Judge Thomas F. Coughlin dropped in at the high school Friday afternoon in the midst of a "mass meeting" and gave the students a real enthusiastic talk on school spirit. Mr. Coughlin told the students that they should back up the team even if it wasn't winning. From the influence this talk had on the students there is bound to be a large crowd of K. H. S. "rooters" at the field this afternoon. This is an important week in the Duso tilt and will give the high school supporters an idea just where their respective teams will stand when the season closes.

Important Duso Games.

Port Jervis will meet some strong opposition today as the Poughkeepsie High School team journeys over to the tri-state game to play off a Duso League game. Both teams have good records. Port Jervis has won four games and lost one, while Poughkeepsie has won four and lost two. Each team is on the edge for a win as a victory for Port Jervis means that there is little possibility of losing the league championship, and a victory for the Bridge City team will be its only hope in the league. In the second Duso League game for the Newburgh Free Academy, this team will meet the men sent over from the Middletown stronghold. It will be the third league game for the Middles who so far have not been beaten. The academy's record while not as good as that of the Middies is fairly good and next to the Port game the Middletown team will probably fight its toughest battle today.

corded Sampson, The Strong Man (William Davis Hawk) and his trainer (Mrs. Walter Lovatt). Not only did Sampson lift mighty weights but he did things with a piece of plumbing pipe that even a plumber wouldn't have dared to do.

Other Features.
Quite different was Katherine, the Arkansas Giraffe, better known as Katherine the Obelisk. (George Van Dusen Hutton and Fred Van Etten) whose keeper, (Mrs. Jay Le Fever) coaxed it to tell the age of Sam Watts, whom Katherine pointed out in the audience.

It is impossible to describe a "Wonderful, Winning Woofus," but sufficient to say that the Woofuses (Miss Marjorie Richards, leading and the same girls as in the Moravian Dance with the addition of Julia Burgevin and Natalie De Witt) did a screamingly funny dance to the music of "Swanee River."

An impressively beautiful creature was Lady Zazabella (Miss Sarah Horton) as she exhibited her group of untamed animals, "Home Bruin" (Edling Burgevin) and the "Hoop-mazooops, the Long Tailed Acrobatic Monkeys (Miss Florence Tappen, Miss Emily Haysradt and Mrs. Doris Fogg) whose intelligent performance gave a hint of their being three missing links and the pad-lock.

The Interlude.
A delightful interlude in the fun and frolic was afforded by the singing of plantation songs by the Jubilee Singers on their first trip north of Virginia (Harry P. Dodge, leader; Arthur M. Rittenbary, Conrad J. Heisenman, Lester C. Elmendorf, William C. Newkirk, Kenneth Ennist, Charles B. Finch, Harry H. Clearwater and Vernon S. Miller). They were obliged to give two encore numbers.

Finally came the thrilling chariot races, the truly Romanesque chariot being driven by just as truly beautiful charioteers (Mrs. Edwin Chilton and Mrs. George Van Dusen Hutton) who fearlessly held the reins over their horses (Jerome Lehr, Julius Kirchner, Dave Levy and Herbert Van Deusen). The chariot horses came in neck and neck.

The Closing Parade.

The program ended with another parade of all the attractions, but that did not end the circus, for no one was allowed to forget the side shows while John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., wearing his Kohinoor diamond, was the chief Barker. Madame de Pythion, the snake charmer from the Orient (Mrs. G. Wallace Codrington); the fat lady (Mrs. Burwell Harrison); the only and original Siamese twins (Miss Margaret Loughran, Miss Helen Newman); the wild man (Ernest Acker); the $25,000 beauty (Edward Kirchner); the tattooed man (Charles Fogg); and Professor Angelo Gonzolotto (Fred Van Deusen, the man of mystery) were all Barnumesque.

Special mention should also be made of those in charge of costumes and designs, Fred Van Etten and Mrs. Ernest Acker, and of the head property man, Frederick Burgevin.

Welfare Work Fund Assured.

The crowd in attendance was so large that the floor was filled with the handsomely costumed dancers throughout that part of the evening following the circus, so that a splendid sum of money is assured the young ladies of the Junior League for their philanthropic work.

ORGANIZING PROFESSIONAL ELEVEN AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Poughkeepsie will have a big football attraction at the Red Sox Stadium on Eastman Oval on Thanksgiving Day. Some other stars on the newly formed eleven are: "Rip" Flannery, former Syracuse star, Bob McWilliam of Penn University, "Big" Bob Grody, pro baseball, basketball and football player and who starred several years ago on the Texas Aggies, "Honey" Russell of St. Francis College, Roddy Cooney of Fordham, well known basketball players, Deegan and Sullivan of Georgetown, Ducky Miles of Washington and Lee University, Bill Rafter of Syracuse, Hobart Baker of Manhattan College, Ed Bailey and Jiggs Healey of St. John's, Walter Galligan of Trinity, and "Buck" Achilles of Fordham. The majority of Jack Walsh's outfit are big fellows towering in the neighborhood of six feet and tipping the fairbanks at 200 pounds, or more.

PAID FOR WAGON WHEEL WITH ONE BAD CHECK

Edward Van Wageningen, who lives just over the Washington avenue viaduct, was arrested Friday afternoon by Sergeant Phelan on a warrant charging him with petit larceny. It developed that Van Wageningen had taken a wagon wheel to the shop of W. H. Kofis to have it repaired and paid for the work with a bad check amounting to $21.26. This morning in police court Van Wageningen made good the check and the charge was withdrawn.

APPROVES PURCHASE OF THREE LIGHT COMPANIES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The public service commission today approved the purchase of three New York State light and power companies by the Power and Electric Securities Corporation of Wilmington, Del.

The companies purchased by the Delaware corporation include the Malone Light and Power Company of Malone, the Fort Covington Light Heat and Power Company of Fort Covington, Franklin county, and the Milling and Lighting Company of Brasher Falls, St. Lawrence county.

Chairman William Prendergast of the public service commission, said the Delaware corporation is owned by the same interests that control the northern New York Utilities, Inc., of Watertown. The power lines of the Utilities system, already linked with the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company and the Utica Gas and Electric Company, now will be linked with the lines of the Franklin and St. Lawrence county companies.

PARDEE ATTENDS AETNA INSURANCE CONFERENCE

LARGE REAL ESTATE DEAL IN HIGHLAND

One of the largest real estate transactions in Highland in recent years has been announced in the transfer by Eva and George C. Hudson of the title of the former Angelo Hasbrouck farm on Vineyard avenue to William Lawrence of Poughkeepsie. The price reported to have been paid was $50,000. The tract of land which covers 34 acres is one of the most attractive properties in Ulster county. Much money has been spent to develop the property which includes a modern 14 room house, a lake covering an expanse of about seven acres, a club house and traps for clay bird shooting, a tennis court and one of the most extensive and profitable fruit farms in that section.

CENTRAL HUDSON ENERGY TO LIGHT RAILROAD SIGNALS

Central Hudson electric energy is now used to light switch signals along the New York Central in the Hudson valley. Heretofore oil lamps were used. A much steadier light, visible a longer distance, results from the use of electricity. If for any reason the power should fail the lamps are automatically switched over to a central storage battery supply. These batteries are charged from Central Hudson sources, so that either directly or indirectly the lighting of switch signals is now done by the Central Hudson. The batteries are also used to manipulate the track switches from a central control house.

Armistice Day Reveals 30,000 Disabled Veterans Under Hospital Treatment

THE VETERAN FINDS A READY COUNSELOR IN THE RED CROSS HOSPITAL WORKER

THE American Red Cross has a vital meaning to the man serving his country, and to the man who has served, and who is facing the difficult readjustments of civil life. Foremost in the peace-time program of the American Red Cross is its service for the disabled veteran and his family, and the men still in the Army and Navy at home and on foreign service.

This assistance takes many forms, but all of it is the essence of practicality. Every month during the past year, the Red Cross served an average of 86,931 veterans, service men, and their families. There are approximately 30,000 war veterans under treatment in government hospitals today.

The keynote of the Red Cross work in behalf of these men and those dependent upon them is in the home service of the Red Cross chapters, of which there are more than 3,000 located in every part of the country. Without this branch of its work the chapters themselves would be handicapped in dealing understandingly with the veteran in the various fields in which he requires aid from the Red Cross. This supplements the government's functions in his behalf, for the Red Cross duty to the veteran is supplementary to government provisions. The Red Cross supplies the things which the government cannot give him under the law.

Red Cross aid to the service and ex-service man is extended in meeting situations and emergencies arising at home and in government hospitals. It is with him in the hospitals always, and his to command whatever the need may be.

The increase of legislation dealing with the veteran, and the broadening possibilities of new legislation have thrown additional duties on this branch of the Red Cross. This increased responsibility is expected to continue on an augmented scale until well into next summer.

The extent of such service is indicated by the fact that out of the total Red Cross expenditures for the past year up to last June, which amounted to $10,821,679.80, work in behalf of veterans and men still in service absorbed $4,235,292.61.

The Ninth Annual Roll Call, from Armistice Day, Nov. 11, to Nov. 26, is the invitation extended once each year, to everyone to participate in this service by enrolling in the American Red Cross.

THIEVES ESCAPE WITH MANY VALUABLES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 31.—Jewel thieves who risked their lives in a daring descent from an adjoining building last night ransacked the palatial apartment of W. J. Robider, wealthy business man at No. 108 East 81st street, and escaped with jewelry and silver plate valued at between $50,000 and $75,000. It was learned today.
The loot included two diamond lavallieres, several rings and other costly valuables, and a complete silver dinner service as well as several valuable antiques.
The thieves gained entrance by climbing down a rope from the roof of an adjoining building and dancing high above a court, prying open one of the rear windows to the Robider apartment.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 31.—Stocks of the motor companies led the speculative market into a brisk and aggressive forward movement of prices today. Studebaker's favorable earnings statement for the first nine months of the year and an equally promising forecast for Willys Overland, Jordan and Dodge and other automobile manufacturing companies stimulated the buying movement. Enormous trading in White Motors, Dodge, Studebaker, Mack Trucks, Chrysler and Willys Overland, was recorded.
Mack Truck jumped 8 points to 23 1/2. Hudson added 2 1/2 points to 11 1/2. Willys Overland common was up 2 at 23 1/2. Jordan up 1 1/2. DuPont up 5. General Motors up 1. Atlantic Coast Line sold around 220 the highest price in its history. The line has secured right of way for an important 40 mile connection in Florida and earnings this year are approximately $33 a share. Pennsylvania hung up a new high record at 50 1/2 and St. Paul common and preferred stocks sold at new high prices.
Anaconda led the copper stocks. Foundation Company, United Drug and other high price industrial and specialty stocks pushed forward from 2 to 6 points. Brooklyn Union Gas led the utility stocks and rose to a new high at 95 3/4.

Stimulated by the extra dividend of $1 a share and the increase in the common dividend to $5 a share, Studebaker plunged forward in spectacular fashion, in extremely heavy trading to above 68. Earlier in the session the stock had been reactionary and sold at 64 1/2. Mack Trucks sold 9 points higher and most of the active motor stocks retained their new gains. Industrial and specialty stocks were steady at the close.
Junior bonds of the St. Paul railroad were strong and active in the listed bond market on announcement that a majority of the bonds had been deposited with the Bankers' Reorganization Committee.

Winter Weather In Kingston

The temperature steadily dropped following the snow fall of Friday and this morning when residents awoke it was to find the city in the grip of real winter weather with thermometers at 6 o'clock this morning registering from 15 to 20 degrees above zero. The lowest temperature registered was 14 above zero, which was the mark set by the self-registering thermometer of Fire Commissioner William S. Blunge. The snow that had fallen had frozen fast to the trees and ground and walking was dangerous owing to the icy conditions that prevailed. As the morning advanced the snow on sidewalk and street began to melt. The hunter's moon period is at hand and old weather prophets say the cold spell will continue until the middle of next week.

FORD SAYS "ORGANIZATIONS" ARE TROUBLE BREEDERS.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Detroit, Oct. 31.—Many fraternal organizations were puzzled today by the attitude of Henry Ford in condemnation made yesterday of "organizations" which seek to inject a discordant note into the life of the human race or which seek directly or indirectly to undermine any church.

Ford refused to name any specific organization as the cause of his statement but said that a "majority of organizations thriving in the United States are breeding places of trouble that easily may enlarge into another war."

"I'm not mentioning the Klan or the Masons or the Knights of Columbus, but I'm including all of them," he said in an interview.
"No person ever went into the door of any church and came out the worse for it. People who fight about religion haven't enough religion to fight about."

The City of David

Prof. R. A. S. Macalister, describing recently the work carried on in the eastern hills to the south of Jerusalem, said that there was no doubt evidence of the occupation of the site by men of prehistoric time. They had, however, discovered the bottom portions of the walls of the city that David had taken from the Jebusites. Although it was not wise to theorize before the work was completed, they had found indications that pointed to a spot in the northern wall being that which David breached when he took the city, subsequently screened with a wall that he built to cover the damage and finally properly repaired by Solomon.

A strong bastion, with walls over twelve feet thick, indicated that it might be the tower from which the Jebusites mocked David, saying that only blind men and cripples would be necessary to hold the walls against him. The excavations also had brought to light other things which illustrated or amplified Biblical references to David. The work was as yet far from complete, only about an acre of ground having been taken, but sufficient had been done to show very attractive possibilities in its completion.

Useful Berries

The wax berry is sometimes known as the yellow tree. Berries are made from its berries, as are soap and sealing wax.

Mortimer, who boasted of his influence in Washington and was the chief witness against Col. C. R. Forbes, was accused in New York of obtaining $50 by fraud.

Value of Public Health Work

Necessity and Aims of Public Health Work are Outlined by Dr. DePorte in Radio Health Talk Over WGY Friday Evening.

"What is Public Health Work Good For," was the subject of a health talk broadcast Friday night from Station WGY by Dr. Joseph V. DePorte, director of the division of vital statistics of the state department of health. This was one of the regular weekly talks broadcast by that department and was a continuation of one given by Dr. DePorte the previous week in which he said that public health work has two aims, first, to keep disease in check when it breaks out and, second, to prevent the very occurrence of disease.

"Some people," stated Dr. DePorte, "do not see any necessity in the latter purpose. They think that, even at present, public health work has gone too far—that in saving thousands of babies and adults, we are keeping alive many weaklings whose deaths would be desirable in the interest of the race as a whole. A favorite argument of these folks is to contrast the work of the public health man and that of the animal breeder. How does the animal breeder get a fine strain of horses, they ask? By weeding out from his stock undesirable animals—those horses that do not run up to the mark either in speed, endurance, or whatever quality the breeder is interested in developing. In breeding cows, he considers the quality and volume of milk they produce; he wants his sheep to have fine, abundant wool; his chickens to lay many eggs, and so on. If the animal breeder followed the methods of the public health worker and kept alive all of his animals irrespective of their condition—what would happen? They answer—that his stock would certainly deteriorate.

"This argument seems plausible enough, but the opponent of public health measures overlooks one basic point. The animal breeder knows what he wants to develop in his cattle or chickens, but who knows what qualities of either body or mind are most desirable in the human being? Society could use the breeding methods of the animal men to develop a race of tall men, short men, red-haired men, but would we all agree on one physical type as the ideal of a human being? And when we approach mental and spiritual traits, we could never obtain even general consent regarding characteristics that are most desirable. And even if we did, how are we to develop them by the animal breeder's methods? So far as we know, character is not associated with any physical attribute. It is well known that many weak babies turn out to be admirable and useful adults—the animal breeder would have killed those infants. There is no reason whatever for assuming, quite offhand, that any individual who happens to be puny is to be discarded. It is possible that the artificial elimination of those who might seem at the time unfit, would, now and then, rob the world of a Roosevelt.

"Since even the strongest opponent of public health work would certainly refuse to sacrifice his own weak offspring on the altar of theoretical race betterment, the mere fact that public health work does save lives justifies the continuation and extension of such activities."
